

ABSTRACT

The Drink Pouch with Inner Snap-on and pull Straw/Spout is an invention for drinkers to drink from a pouch without the traditional straw. The user of pouch can snap on the piece and pull the corner resulting the internal straw to pierce through the pouch creating a drinking spout environment. This invention can eliminated accompany of a straw in the traditional drink pouch market. The pouch is also designed to be sealable after opening giving the option for the user to consume the rest of his/her drink at a later time. The one piece drink pouch, can be easier to market as well as create a unique way for users to experience their drinks.
